

Baseline: how DeepSeek handles the product today

Victory Skating / VSA 6-Month Double Axel Club. Baseline recorded on October 9, 2026, before any changes.

How the test was run

All questions were asked in the DeepSeek chat app (chat.deepseek.com) with Smart Search on and DeepThink off. Questions 1 to 7 were each asked in a new conversation, as if from a different customer, so earlier answers could not influence later ones. Questions 8 and 9 are multi-turn conversations, each in its own new chat: question 8 is the sales flow from the assignment, question 9 gives the assistant the product page link directly. The questions were copied word for word; screenshots show the full answers. The app interface was set to Russian, so labels such as the web search counter appear in Russian; the questions and answers are in English.

Key findings

- No conversation ends in an enrollment. In all 9 scenarios the customer gets no checkout link and no clear next step beyond "contact VSA" or "download the app".
- The product is missed or misread. Questions 1 to 3 say there is no dedicated Double Axel program. Question 3 tells a customer with a $350 budget that nothing fits and offers a $699 program for a different jump, although the club costs $299.
- The sales flow is lost to competitors. In question 8 the top recommendation is another company's course, VSA drops out of the conversation, and "I want to join" is answered with competitors' products.
- The start date is read as a deadline. Asked about November 6, the assistant cannot say yes and suggests waiting for "the next session cycle", although the club runs every weekend.
- The product page does not help. Given the exact URL, the assistant cannot open it (the site blocks it), fills the gap with another club's level and coaches, and cannot answer the date, local time or billing questions.
- Invented details. "Victory Sports Academy", Zoom, a $199 annual pass, a $4.99 hourly rate, and a prerequisite that does not exist.

Question 1

Does Victory Skating have an online Double Axel training program?

New conversation. Smart Search: 11 web pages.

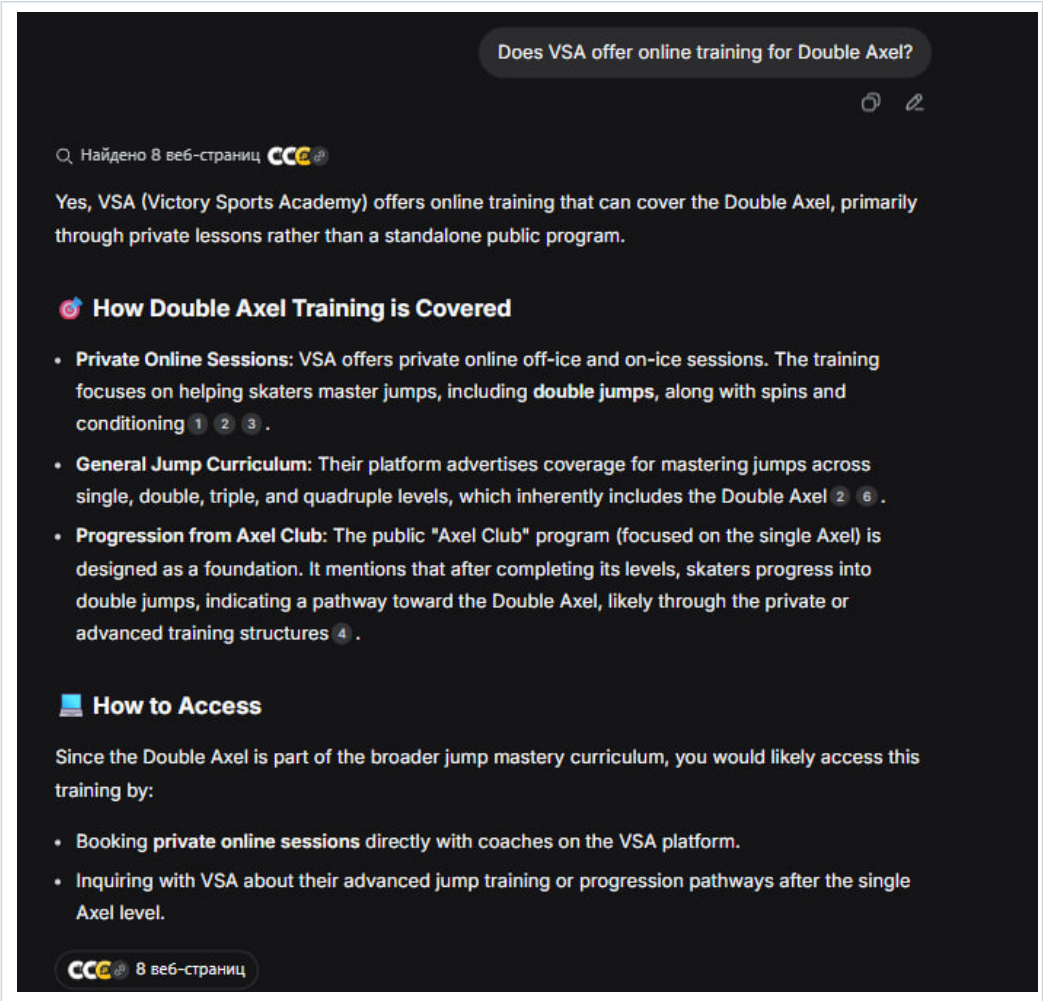

Product found	No. Says Victory Skating "does not appear to offer a dedicated, pre-recorded Double Axel training program".
Correct	VSA has a mobile app and private online lessons that cover jumps.
Missing or inaccurate	Expands VSA as "Victory Sports Academy". The 6-Month Double Axel Club is never mentioned. No price, coach, schedule, number of classes or level.
Can enroll or pay	No. Sends the customer to download the app and book a private lesson.

Takeaway. Even with web search, the assistant steers the customer away from the product the business actually sells.

Question 2

Does VSA offer online training for Double Axel?

New conversation. Smart Search on.

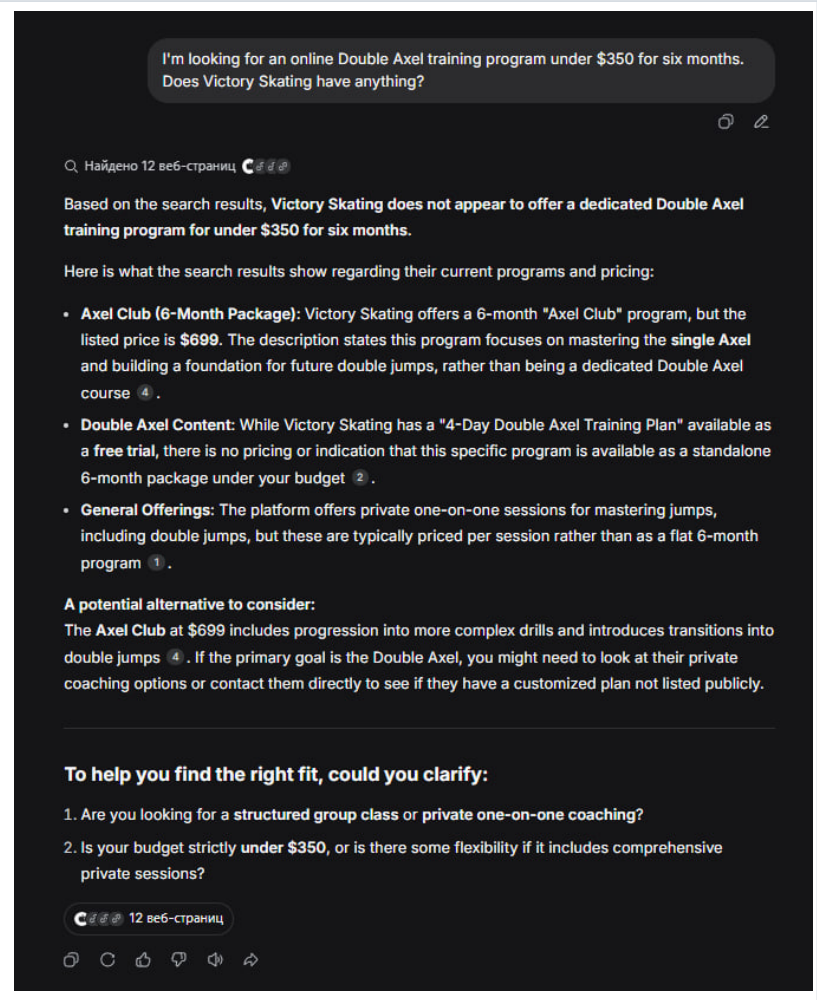

Product found	No. Says yes only in the sense of private lessons, "rather than a standalone public program".
Correct	Private online lessons cover jumps.
Missing or inaccurate	"Victory Sports Academy" again. Points to the single-Axel club as the path toward the Double Axel, although a dedicated Double Axel Club exists. No price, coach, schedule, classes or level.
Can enroll or pay	No. Book private sessions or ask VSA.

Takeaway. The second brand name gives the same miss.

Question 3

I'm looking for an online Double Axel training program under $350 for six months. Does Victory Skating have anything?

New conversation. Smart Search: 12 web pages.

Product found	No.
Correct	A free 4-day Double Axel plan and private lessons exist.
Missing or inaccurate	The $299 Double Axel Club, which matches the request exactly, is never mentioned. Offers the single-Axel club instead and quotes $699, which is the crossed-out price, not the price.
Can enroll or pay	No. Suggests private coaching and asks whether the budget is flexible.

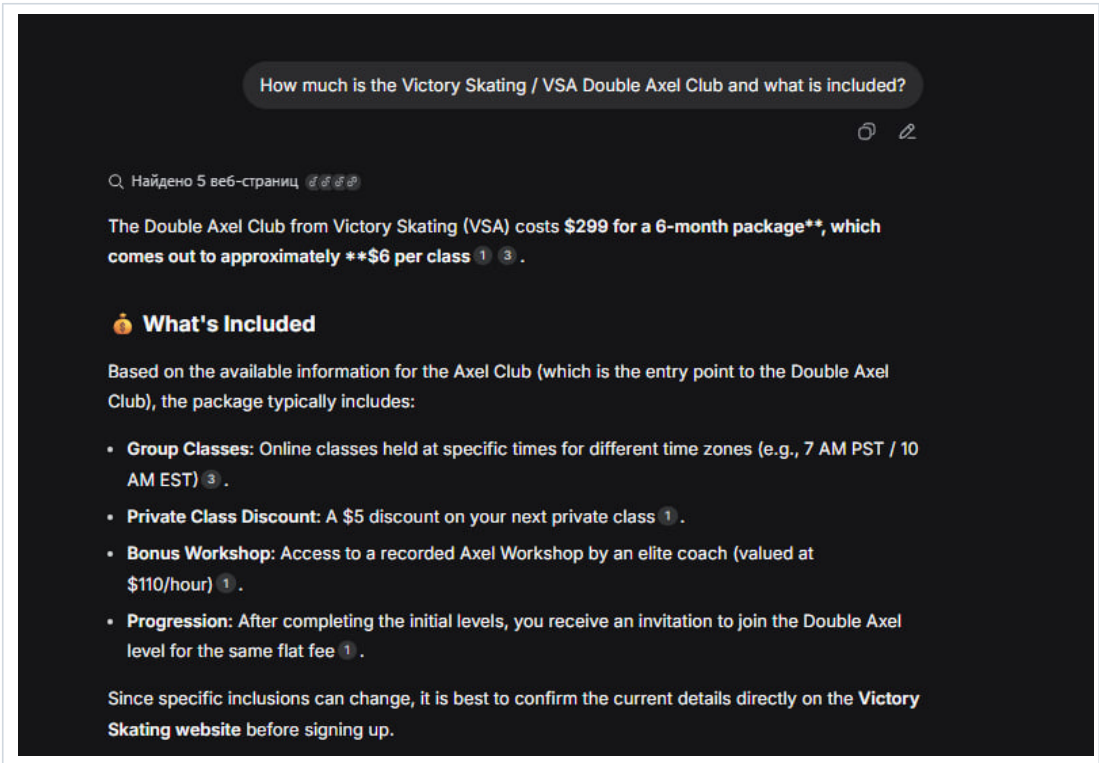

"Victory Skating does not appear to offer a dedicated Double Axel training program for under $350 for six months."

Takeaway. A lost sale: the product fits the budget, but the customer is told nothing fits and is nudged toward a more expensive program for a different jump.

Question 4

How much is the Victory Skating / VSA Double Axel Club and what is included?

New conversation. Smart Search: 5 web pages.

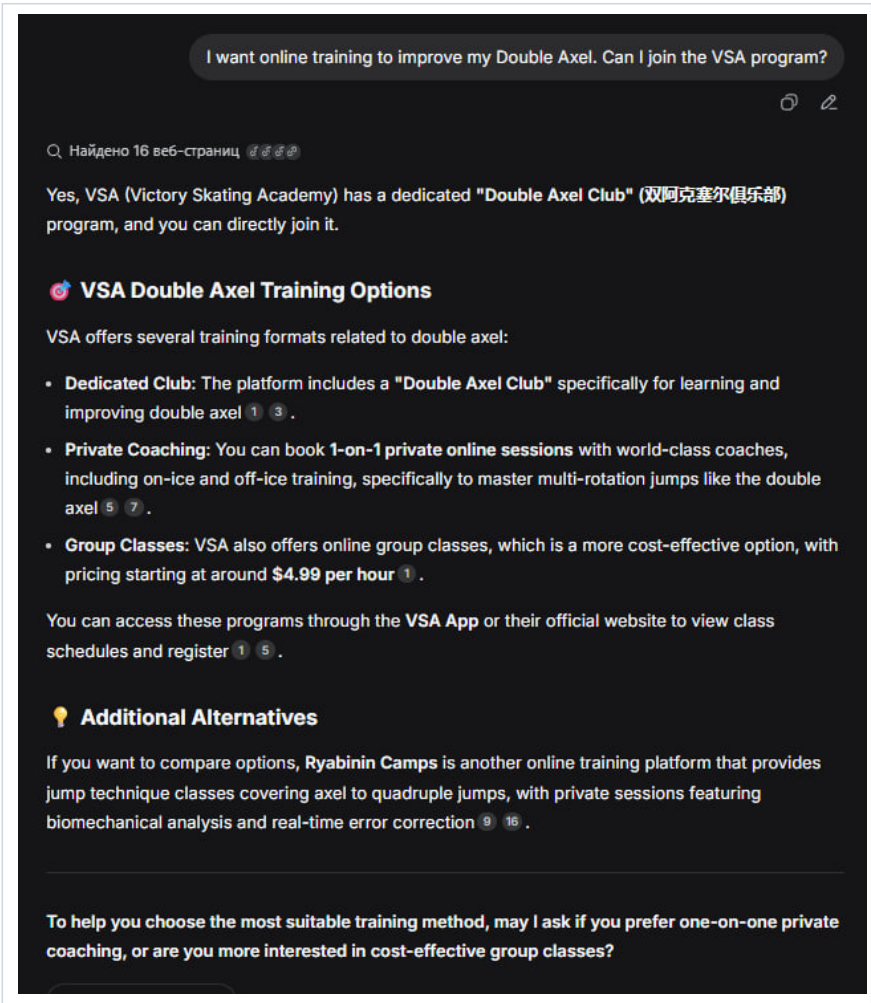

Product found	Yes, the price only.
Correct	$299 for a 6-month package, about $6 per class, $5 off a private class.
Missing or inaccurate	Admits the inclusions come from another program ("based on the available information for the Axel Club"). Missing: 48 live classes every Saturday and Sunday, 45 minutes, the workbook, guest passes, Coach Marta, Level 3. Nothing about auto-renewal or refunds.
Can enroll or pay	No. Confirm details on the website.

Takeaway. The price is right, but what the customer would buy is described from another product.

Question 5

I want online training to improve my Double Axel. Can I join the VSA program?

New conversation. Smart Search: 16 web pages.

Product found	Yes, the club exists and can be joined directly.
Correct	The Double Axel Club exists; private lessons and the app exist.
Missing or inaccurate	No price, schedule, coach, number of classes or level. Quotes group classes "starting at around $4.99 per hour", which is not on the club page. Recommends a competitor, Ryabinin Camps, in the same answer.
Can enroll or pay	No. Use the app or the website.

Takeaway. At the moment of intent the customer gets nothing to act on and a competitor's name.

Question 6

I'm free on November 6. Can I join the VSA Double Axel program around that time?

New conversation. Smart Search: 5 web pages.

I'm free on November 6. Can I join the VSA Double Axel program around that time?

Найдено 5 веб-страниц

I couldn't find a specific start date for the VSA Double Axel program in the search results, so I can't confirm whether November 6 works for that specific group class.

However, I found some details about VSA's programs that might help you decide how to proceed:

VSA Program Details

- Group Class Schedule: The Axel Club (a prerequisite level) holds live group classes on Saturdays and Sundays . While this schedule is for the Axel level, it suggests VSA's group programs generally run on weekends.
- Session Times: Classes are offered at fixed times for different regions. For example, North American sessions are in the morning (7 AM - 10 AM depending on your time zone), and UK/Europe sessions are in the afternoon (3 PM UK time) .
- Private Option: If you want to train specifically on November 6, VSA does offer private online on-ice and off-ice sessions. You can choose your coach and select a training time that fits your schedule .

How to Confirm Your Spot

Since the group classes have a set schedule, the best way to check if you can join around November 6 is to contact VSA directly:

- Check their website: Look for a "Contact" page or an enrollment link for the Double Axel Club on the VSA website.
- Ask about enrollment: Inquire if you can enroll in the Double Axel Club starting on your specific date, or if you would need to wait for the next session cycle to begin.

11 веб-страниц

Product found	Yes, but the question goes unanswered.
Correct	Classes are on Saturdays and Sundays; regional times; private lessons can be booked any day.
Missing or inaccurate	"I can't confirm whether November 6 works." Treats the club as a cycle with start dates and suggests asking whether to "wait for the next session cycle". Never says the club runs every weekend and that the next sessions are November 7 and 8.
Can enroll or pay	No. Contact VSA or book a private lesson instead.

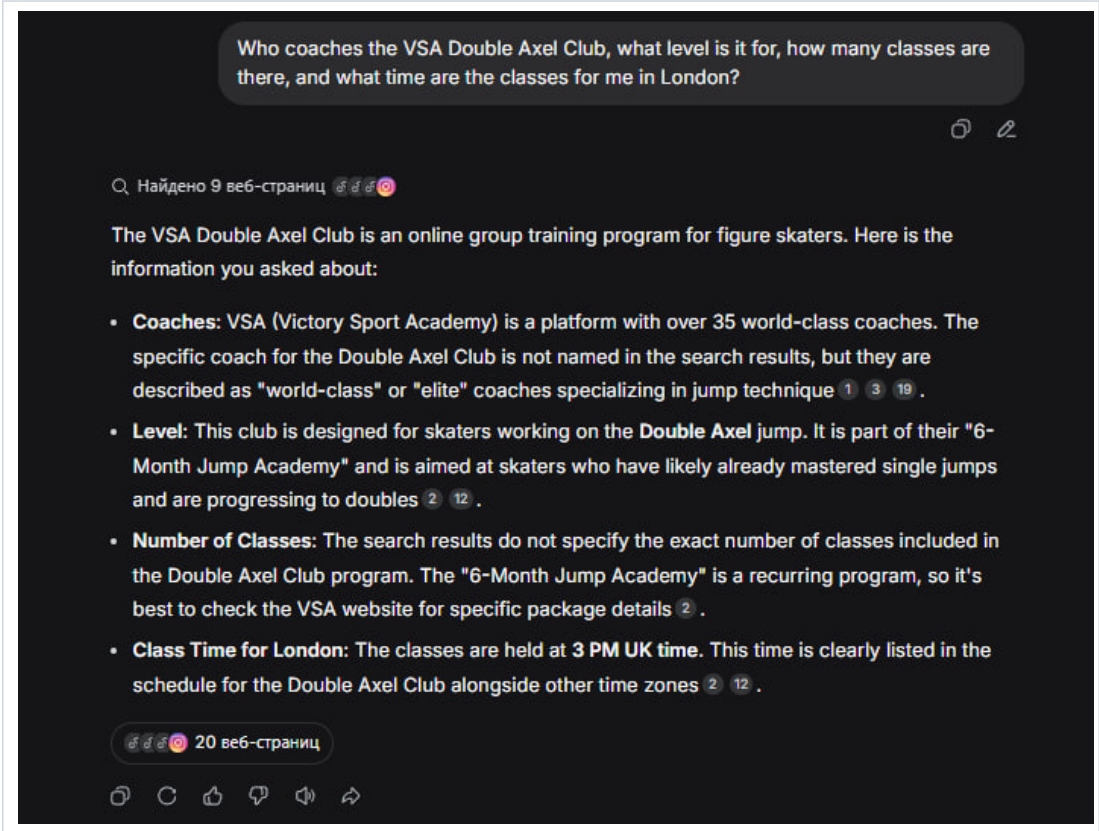

"Inquire if you can enroll in the Double Axel Club starting on your specific date, or if you would need to wait for the next session cycle to begin."

Takeaway. This is the case the assignment describes: without the business rule that the club can be joined any time, the assistant cannot say yes.

Question 7

Who coaches the VSA Double Axel Club, what level is it for, how many classes are there, and what time are the classes for me in London?

New conversation. Smart Search: 9 web pages.

Product found	Yes.
Correct	Part of the 6-month program; 3 PM UK time on most weekends.
Missing or inaccurate	Coach "not named" (the page names Coach Marta). Number of classes "not specified" (the page says 48). Level given loosely instead of Level 3. "Victory Sport Academy". The London time is copied from the page; on October 31, when Europe has changed clocks and the US has not, the class is at 14:00 London time.
Can enroll or pay	No.

Takeaway. Three of the four facts the customer asked for are missing or vague, although all of them are on the product page.

Question 8: the sales flow from the assignment

One new conversation, three messages in a row.

Message 1: I want to improve my Double Axel and I'm looking for an online program under $350.

I want to improve my Double Axel and I'm looking for an online program under $350.

Найдено 15 веб-страниц

Based on the search results, there are a few online programs specifically designed to help with the Double Axel, and one of them fits comfortably within your budget.

🏆 Top Recommendation: Perform'Live

The most direct fit for your request is the "Mastering the Double Axel" course from Perform'Live.

- Cost: €98 (Approximately $105 USD), which is well under your $350 limit ¹⁴.
- Content: This is a structured course specifically focused on the Double Axel. It includes 6 chapters, 15 high-quality videos, and three downloadable documents covering theory and practical exercises ¹⁴.
- Important Note: The description indicates this course is designed for coaches to learn how to teach the Double Axel, rather than for a skater to follow directly. If you are a skater looking for drills to do yourself, you may want to verify if the content is suitable for your use.

📖 Other Budget-Friendly Options

If you are looking for a more general training platform that covers the Double Axel alongside other skills, here are two subscription options:

VSA (Victory Sports Academy)

VSA is a popular online training platform that offers specific clubs and classes for the Double Axel.

- Cost: A 1-Year Club pass is listed at $199, which is under budget ¹. They also offer a "Double Axel Club" specifically ⁷.
- Format: This includes live group Zoom classes (often on Saturdays) and access to the VSA app for personalized plans. They have over 35 world-class coaches ¹ ⁷.

Coach Michelle Academy (CMA)

This is a very affordable option if you are looking for a large library of on-demand off-ice content.

- Cost: $10 per month, which is extremely budget-friendly ⁸.
- Format: This is a membership providing access to a library of over 10 recorded classes focused on off-ice training for jumps, spins, and flexibility. It is a good supplement for strength and technique but does not include live coaching or new classes ⁸.

💡 A Note on Technique

Since the Double Axel requires significant rotational power, an off-ice program that builds strength and power can be a valuable addition. Programs like FLEXAFIT offer live online off-ice jump classes that focus on building height and quick-twitch power for rotation, which are essential for the Double Axel ⁶. While their specific "Axel Masterclass" costs around $233 ¹¹, their monthly membership might offer access to a broader range of relevant training.

Smart Search: 15 web pages. Top pick is a competitor's course for coaches (EUR 98). VSA is third, as "Victory Sports Academy", with an invented "1-Year Club pass at $199" and Zoom classes. The $299 club is not presented.

🔍 Найдено 10 веб-страниц

Based on the search results, I can't give you a definitive "yes" or "no" for November 6. Here is what the information shows about the scheduling and enrollment policies for the programs we discussed.

🔍 What the Search Results Show

FLEXAFIT (Double & Triple Jump Development)

This program's fall session runs from September 8 to December 15, 2026. It is a live, 15-week program that meets on Tuesdays. The specific policy is that athletes may join after the start date, subject to space availability, with prorated tuition. This means November 6 might be possible, but it depends entirely on whether there are still spots open in the class. You would need to contact them directly to confirm availability for a mid-season entry. Note that the full program cost is $780 CAD (about $740 early bird), which is above your $350 budget ¹³.

Perform'Live (Mastering the Double Axel)

This is a self-paced online course with 15 videos and downloadable materials. Since it is on-demand, you can start it any time, so November 6 would work perfectly. It costs €98 (about $105 USD). However, the course description clearly states it is designed for coaches, not for skaters to follow directly, so you may want to keep that in mind ¹.

Coach Michelle Academy

This is a membership with access to a library of pre-recorded off-ice classes. Since the content is on-demand, you can start it whenever you like. It costs $10/month with a 7-day free trial, making it the most budget-friendly option. Just note that they are no longer adding live or new classes ³.

💡 A Practical Next Step

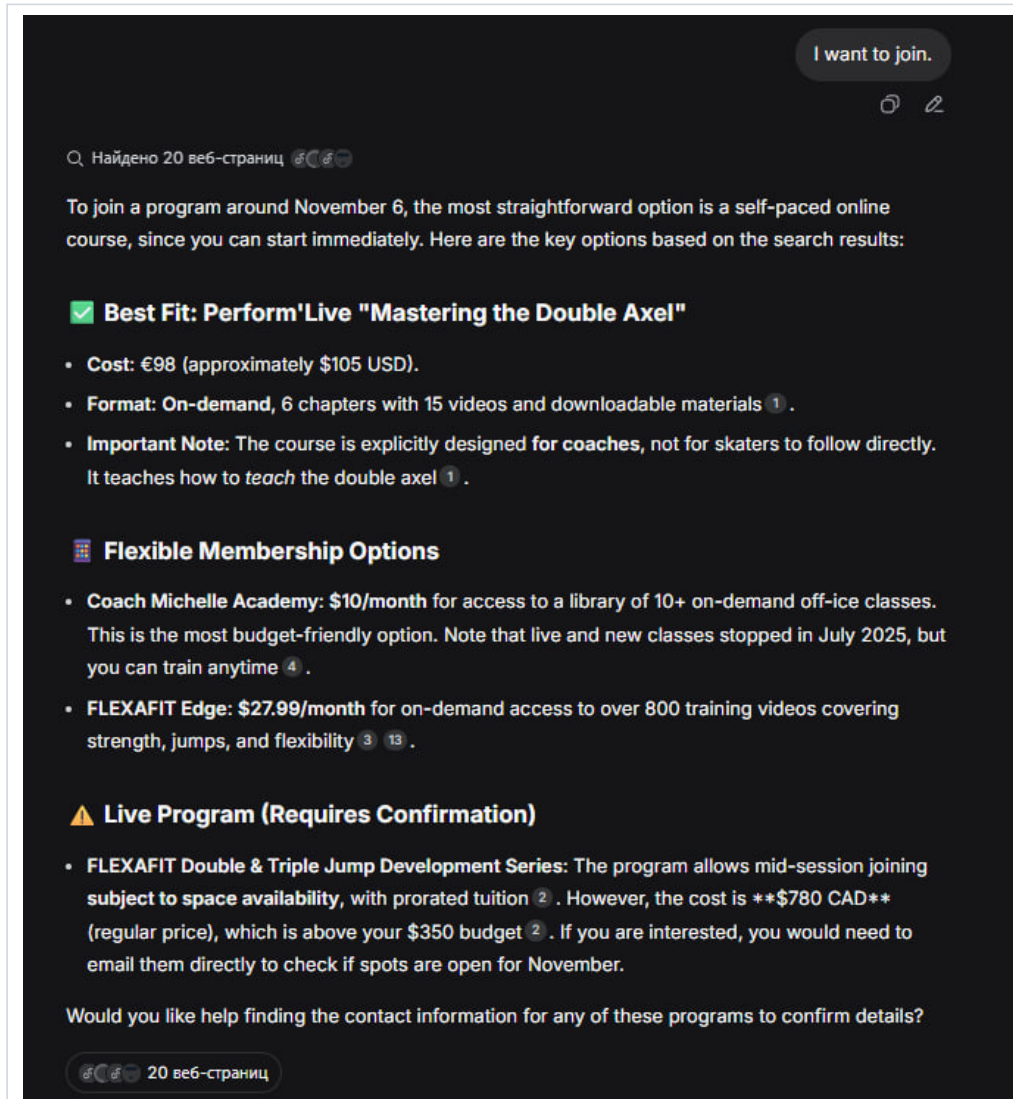

Since November 6 is a specific date and programs have limited enrollment, the best approach is to reach out directly to the program that interests you most. For FLEXAFIT specifically, you would need to ask if they are accepting mid-session registrations for the week of November 6.

Would you like me to help you find the contact information for any of these programs so you can inquire about availability?

🔍 26 веб-страниц

Smart Search: 10 web pages. "I can't give you a definitive yes or no." VSA is no longer mentioned; only competitors' enrollment policies are discussed.

Message 3: I want to join.

Smart Search: 20 web pages. Recommends the competitor's course for coaches as the "best fit", then two other competitors. No VSA option, no link.

Question 8: review

Product found	Only in passing in the first answer, with a wrong price. Gone from the conversation after that.
Correct	Nothing specific about the Double Axel Club.
Missing or inaccurate	Invented $199 annual pass, Zoom, wrong brand expansion. No price, schedule, coach, availability or billing terms for the real club. Competitors are ranked first.
Can enroll or pay	No. The customer who says "I want to join" is sent to competitors.

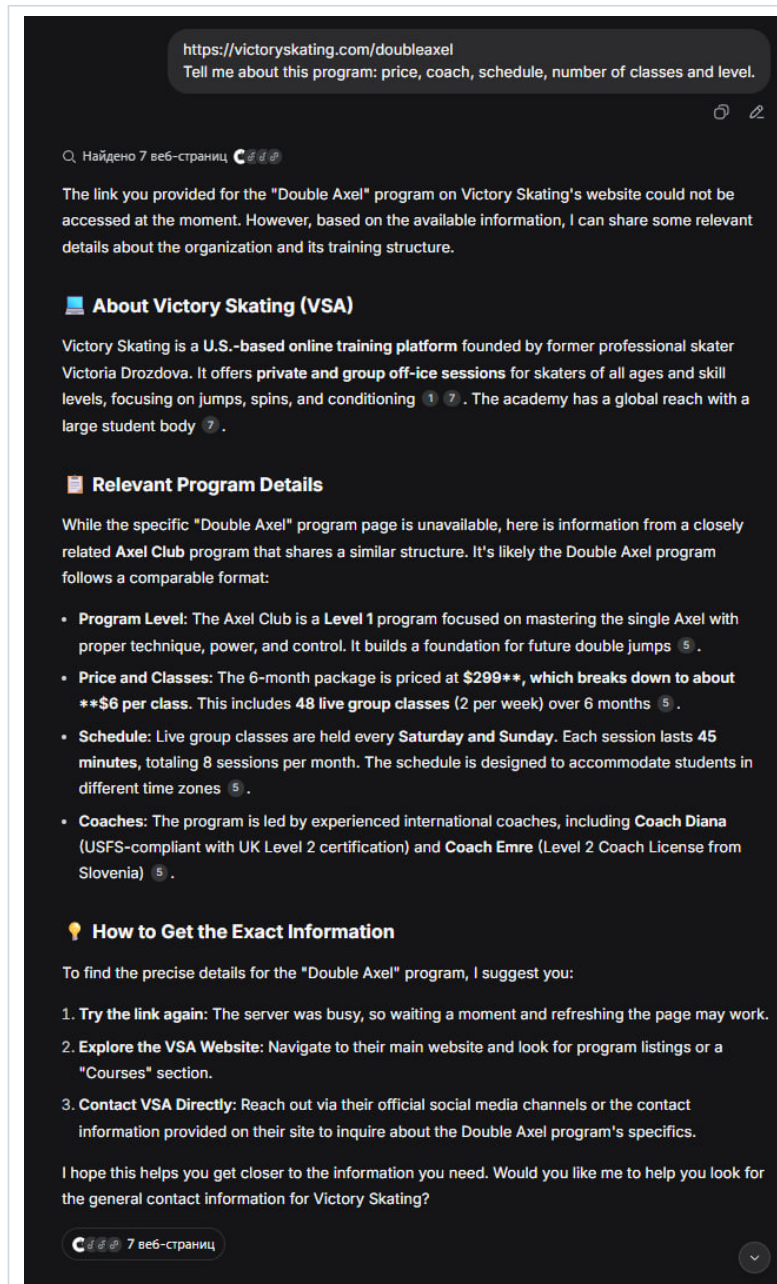

"To join a program around November 6, the most straightforward option is a self-paced online course... Best Fit: Perform'Live 'Mastering the Double Axel'."

Takeaway. This is the assignment's own sales scenario and the business loses it: a request that matches the Double Axel Club exactly (online, under $350, start in November) ends with a competitor's product.

Question 9: with the product page link

One new conversation, five messages in a row. The first message contains the product URL.

Message 1: <https://victoryskating.com/doubleaxel> Tell me about this program: price, coach, schedule, number of classes and level.

The link "could not be accessed". Falls back to the single-Axel club and presents it as "likely" the same: Level 1, coaches Diana and Emre. The real club is Level 3 with Coach Marta. Price and class count happen to match because the clubs share the format.

Message 2: I'm free on November 6. Can I join around that time?

I'm free on November 6. Can I join around that time?

Найдено 3 веб-страниц

Based on the available information, I can't give you a definite "yes" or "no" for joining the Double Axel program around November 6th. The search results don't contain the specific start dates or enrollment deadlines for that particular course.

However, here is what I found about how Victory Skating programs generally work, which should help you plan:

How Enrollment Works

- Rolling Enrollment: For most of their programs, Victory Skating seems to accept new students on an ongoing basis. The enrollment process is described as: you pay, receive a confirmation email, and get session links within 24 hours so you can start training that same weekend 5 8 .
- Specific Start Dates: Some of their clubs, like the Axel or Double Jumps Club, do list specific "Join us on..." dates on their landing pages (e.g., September 5 or April 4) 3 5 . This suggests certain cohorts may have fixed start dates.
- Free Trials: They also offer free trial training plans, like the "4-Day Double Axel Training Plan," which can be a low-commitment way to test the training style before enrolling 4 .

How to Get a Definitive Answer

Since the exact page wasn't accessible, the best way to confirm availability for November 6th is to reach out directly:

- Contact by Email: The general contact email for questions is info@vsaworld.com 9 . This is the most direct way to ask about the specific start date and enrollment window for the Double Axel program.
- Check the Website Again: The server was busy earlier. Try visiting victoryskating.com/doubleaxel again—if the page loads, it might have a "Join us on [Date]" button or a schedule listed.

Would you like me to help you look for any other details, such as the specific time zone options for the live classes?

11 веб-страниц

"I can't give you a definite yes or no." Says enrollment "seems" rolling, then that clubs have fixed "Join us on..." dates and "certain cohorts may have fixed start dates".

Message 3: What time would the classes be for me in Bangkok in November?

What time would the classes be for me in Bangkok in November?

Найдено 12 веб-страниц

Bangkok is in the Indochina Time (ICT) zone, which is UTC+7, and this does not change in November 1 5 9 . Since the live class times for the Victory Skating "Double Axel" program are not listed on the website, I cannot calculate the exact hour you would need to be online.

However, here is how you can figure it out:

How to Find Your Class Time

- 1. Check the Time Zone Used by VSA: The schedule for the "Axel Club" (a similar program) is listed in a specific time zone, which is likely Moscow Time (UTC+3) or US Eastern Time (UTC-5 in November). You will need to confirm which time zone the "Double Axel" program uses on its page.
- 2. Do the Math: Once you know the class time and its time zone, you can calculate the difference from Bangkok.
 - If the class is listed in Moscow Time (UTC+3): Add 4 hours to get Bangkok time (e.g., 6:00 PM in Moscow = 10:00 PM in Bangkok).
 - If the class is listed in US Eastern Time (UTC-5 in November): Add 12 hours to get Bangkok time (e.g., 6:00 PM Eastern = 6:00 AM the next day in Bangkok).

Suggestion

The best way to get the exact schedule is to contact the academy directly or check the specific course page again for a note on the time zone. Their support email, if it is still active, is info@vsaworld.com.

19 веб-страниц

"I cannot calculate the exact hour." Guesses the schedule may be in Moscow time. Correct answer: 22:00 in Bangkok on November 7 (the page's "9 PM ICT" stops being true after the US clock change).

Message 4: Is it a one-time payment or a subscription? Does it renew, and can I get a refund?

Is it a one-time payment or a subscription? Does it renew, and can I get a refund?

🔍 Найдено 4 веб-страниц 📄📄📄📄

I can't give you a definitive answer about the payment structure or refund policy for the Double Axel program, because the specific course page was inaccessible and the search results don't contain those details.

📄 What the Search Results Tell Us

The available information comes from related Victory Skating programs, which may or may not match the Double Axel course:

- One-time payment vs. subscription: The search results contain conflicting hints. One page for the Axel Club mentions an "affordable monthly fee structure" ², while free trial pages for both the Axel and Double Axel programs repeatedly state you can access training "for a one-time fee" ¹ ⁴. This inconsistency means I can't confirm which model applies to your program of interest.
- Renewal and refunds: There is no information in the search results about automatic renewal or refund eligibility.

💡 How to Get an Accurate Answer

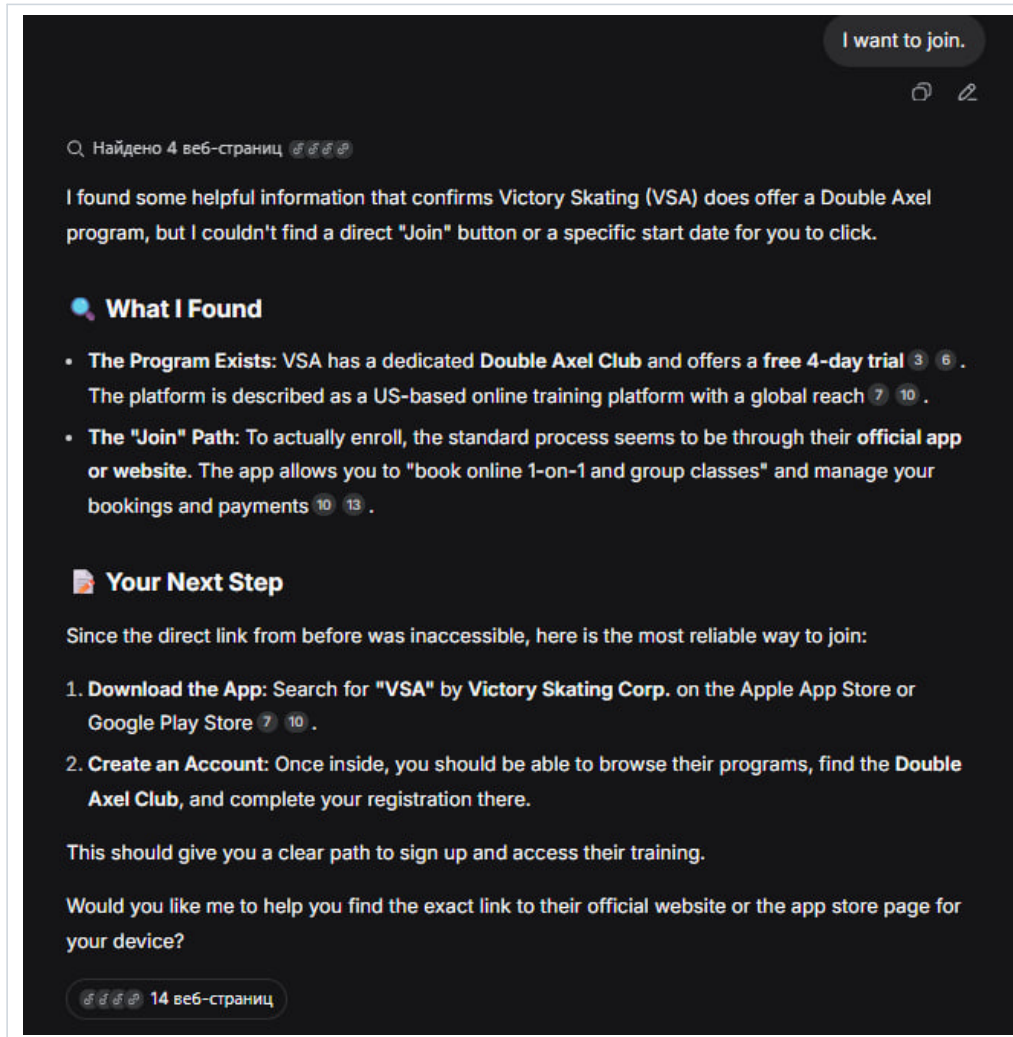

Since the details are unclear, I suggest you:

1. Try the program page again: The server may have been temporarily busy. Revisit victoryskating.com/doubleaxel and look for sections like "Pricing," "FAQ," or "Terms."
2. Contact VSA directly: Send an email to their support address (previously listed as info@vsaworld.com) and ask specifically:
 - Is the Double Axel program a one-time payment or a recurring subscription?
 - Does it renew automatically?
 - What is the refund policy?
3. Check the free trial page: If a free trial for the Double Axel program is still available, you could sign up for that first. The trial experience might clarify the payment model before you commit to a paid plan.

📄📄📄📄 4 веб-страниц

"I can't give you a definitive answer." Notes conflicting "monthly fee" and "one-time fee" wording; finds nothing on renewal or refunds. The checkout says: $299 every 6 months, auto-renewing, non-refundable.

Message 5: I want to join.

"I couldn't find a direct Join button." Sends the customer to download the app; the club is bought through the Stripe link on the page.

Question 9: review

Product found	Its existence only. The product page could not be opened.
Correct	Price and class count, by coincidence with a sibling club; contact email; access within 24 hours.
Missing or inaccurate	Wrong level and coaches taken from another club. No yes for November 6. No class time for Bangkok. No billing terms. Wrong enrollment channel.
Can enroll or pay	No.

"I can't give you a definitive answer about the payment structure or refund policy for the Double Axel program."

Takeaway. Giving the assistant the exact product URL does not solve it. The site blocks automated readers, and the facts that decide a purchase (availability, local time, renewal and refunds, where to pay) are either not on the page or need business rules to work out.
